

The Artists' Studio

Posted by E Toffey in Arts | 0 comments

electric city/diamond city's bi-monthly gallery tour

BY ALICIA GREGA

Sacred Birches: spare and haunting

The Examined Life opens on Friday

Works by Ka-Son Reeves (above) and Beth Tyrrell (at right) are among those by seven different artists exploring various angles on every-day life in a new exhibit of paintings at New Visions Studio & Gallery. The Examined Life opens on Friday with a reception from 5 to 10 p.m., allowing hours before and after the First Friday Scranton standard for viewing. Reeves grew up in Brooklyn, watching his artist father paint portraits at home and his older brother create graffiti out in the community. He studied communications, rather than fine art, at the City University of New York and went on to open a graphic design studio specializing in print and web design and development. The current director of ARTSPACE Gallery in Stroudsburg, Reeves has seen his acrylic works exhibited in several galleries in New York as well as the Poconos during the past couple of years. Also displaying work in the show are artists Mike Carson, John R. Kolbek, Kevin Schappert, Alison Schmidt, and Megan Tucker. The Examined Life will remain on display through Feb. 25. New Visions is located at 201 Vine Street in Scranton. Hours are noon to 6 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. Call 878-3970 or visit newvisionsstudio.com.